MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION

IN RE: FOSAMAX (ALENDRONATE SODIUM)
PRODUCTS LIABILITY LITIGATION (NO. II)

MDL No. 2243

TRANSFER ORDER

Before the Panel:* Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1407, defendant Merck Sharp & Dohme Corp. f/k/a Merck & Co., Inc. (Merck) moves for centralization of the 36 actions, pending in eight districts, listed on Schedule A in the District of New Jersey or, in the alternative, the Western District of Louisiana.¹

Plaintiff in the Eastern District of Louisiana potential tag-along action supports centralization in the Western District of Louisiana. Plaintiffs in the Southern District of New York and Eastern District of New York potential tag-along actions support centralization but initially suggested the Southern District of New York or, in the alternative, the Western District of Louisiana for transferee district. At oral argument, these plaintiffs fully supported centralization in the Western District of Louisiana. Similarly, plaintiff in the Northern District of Ohio potential tag-along action originally proposed centralization in the Northern District of Ohio, but supported centralization in the Western District of Louisiana at oral argument.

Plaintiffs in the Middle District of Tennessee and the Eastern District of Missouri actions oppose centralization. In the alternative, plaintiffs in the Eastern District of Missouri action propose centralization of these actions in the Southern District of New York within MDL No. 1789 -- In re: Fosamax Products Liability Litigation or in the Eastern District of Missouri.² They also argue that their action should be excluded from any centralized proceedings until their motion to remand to state court has been decided.

* Judge Barbara S. Jones took no part in the decision of this matter.

² As their third alternative, plaintiffs in the Eastern District of Missouri action support centralization in Southern District of Illinois as suggested by plaintiff in the Southern District of Illinois action.

Plaintiff in the Southern District of Illinois action opposes centralization as well.³ In the alternative, she suggests centralization in Southern District of Illinois. At oral argument this plaintiff also supported centralization in the Western District of Louisiana.

On the basis of the papers filed and hearing session held, we find that these 36 actions involve common questions of fact, and that centralization under Section 1407 will serve the convenience of the parties and witnesses and promote the just and efficient conduct of this litigation. All actions share questions of fact arising from similar allegations that use of Fosamax or its generic equivalent caused femur fractures or similar bone injuries. Given that over 40 actions are pending in fourteen districts before fourteen judges, centralization is warranted and will eliminate duplicative discovery, prevent inconsistent pretrial rulings, and conserve the resources of the parties, their counsel and the judiciary.

Some plaintiffs seek exclusion from centralized proceedings on the ground that their actions are too advanced to benefit from such proceedings and transfer at this stage would merely delay resolution of their actions. While the point at which an action should be excluded from centralized proceedings is not definite, neither of the actions sought to be excluded has progressed to that point. Discovery has only just begun in one of the actions, and significant pretrial proceedings remain in both actions. See, e.g., In re Denture Cream Prods. Liab. Litig., 624 F. Supp. 2d 1379, 1381 (J.P.M.L. 2009) (finding action not too far advanced to be included in centralized proceedings).

We also decline to exclude the Eastern District of Missouri action at this time. Plaintiffs in that action can proceed with their motion to remand to state court in the transferee district. See, e.g., In re Ivy, 901 F.2d 7 (2nd Cir. 1990); In re Prudential Ins. Co. of Am. Sales Practices Litig., 170 F. Supp. 2d 1346, 1347-48 (J.P.M.L. 2001).

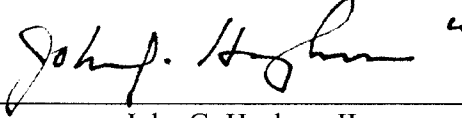

We are persuaded that the District of New Jersey is an appropriate transferee forum for this litigation given the number of cases pending there and the length of time some of those actions have been pending. The headquarters, witnesses and documents of the common defendant, Merck, are located within the District of New Jersey, and nearly two-thirds of the pending actions are already in this district before a single judge. In addition, the federal courthouse in Trenton, New Jersey, is relatively close to the state court in Atlantic City, New Jersey, where hundreds of related cases are pending. Centralization in this district could facilitate coordination between the federal and state courts. Centralization in this district also permits the Panel to assign the litigation to an experienced transferee judge who is already presiding over 27 actions in the District of Jersey.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1407, the actions listed on Schedule A and pending outside the District of New Jersey are transferred to the District of New Jersey and, with the consent of that court, assigned to the Honorable Garrett E. Brown, Jr., for coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings with the actions listed on Schedule A and pending in that district.

³ Plaintiff in the Southern District of Illinois action asserts that plaintiffs in twelve other actions oppose centralization.
